GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS
E-POST OFFICE

1 Scope
These E-Post Office General Terms and Conditions (hereinafter referred to as the “GTC”) govern the contractual relationship between the Customer and Post CH Ltd (Wankdorfallee 4, 3030 Berne, Switzerland, hereinafter referred to as “Swiss Post”) for the use of the E-Post Office platform and the services based on it (hereinafter together referred to as “E-Post Office”). The GTC supplement the “Login Customer Center” GTC (see section 1.2 of these GTC). In the event of any inconsistencies, the “E-Post Office” GTC take precedence. The “Login Customer Center” GTC are published on the www.swisspost.ch/gtc website. References to persons refer to both men and women as well as to more than one person.

2 Subscriber and usage requirements
2.1 General
The registration and use of E-Post Office requires a valid postal address in Switzerland. To use E-Post Office, the Customer requires an e-mail address, a valid Swiss mobile number and Internet access via a standard Internet browser (e.g. via a PC, tablet computer or smartphone).

2.2 Registration with “Login Customer Center”
To use E-Post Office, the Customer must be registered for the “Login Customer Center” services with a postal address in Switzerland.

2.3 Registration with activation code
The Customer must register online to use E-Post Office. Registration is carried out via the “Login Customer Center” service. After successful registration, Swiss Post sends the Customer an activation code for letter activation to the address stored in “Login Customer Center” if that address has not been verified yet. As long as the Customer has not carried out the letter activation, he cannot use E-Post Office. These GTC must be expressly accepted by the Customer as part of the registration process by clicking the corresponding checkbox. They are part of the agreement and are published on the www.swisspost.ch/gtc website. Swiss Post may reject registration applications without stating the reasons.

3 Service description
3.1 Sender
A sender refers to any natural person or legal entity which sends a message to the Customer via E-Post Office (hereinafter referred to as “mail item”). On the sender’s side, a corresponding contractual relationship with Swiss Post is required to send items via E-Post Office.

3.2 Recipient
A Customer who has registered with E-Post Office via “Login Customer Center” is considered to be the recipient. In doing so, the Customer has the option to manage his sender customers (see section 3.3).

3.3 Determination of the type of receipt
The Customer chooses in E-Post Office sender customers from whom he wishes to receive mail items via “E-Post Office portal delivery” (”portal delivery, “electronic”). Mail items are delivered as “letters” if the sender customers are not added.

3.4 Postal letter delivery condition
Swiss Post endeavours to take the receiving preferences of the Customer into account as far as possible. To ensure timely delivery, Swiss Post may deliver by letter at any time and at its own discretion. Swiss Post may provide information on the failure of electronic delivery and the possible reasons (e.g. system failure, too little memory).

3.5 E-Post Office portal delivery
The mail item is saved in E-Post Office during E-Post Office portal delivery. The Customer is informed of the receipt of mail items in accordance with his settings.

3.6 Replying/forwarding via E-Post Office
In the case of portal delivery, the Customer can send a reply to the sender or forward received mail items. The reply is sent via the E-Post Office channel according to the receiving preference of the original sender (portal delivery or letter). The reply/forward value-added services are subject to a charge (see section 5).

3.7 @epost.ch e-mail address
E-Post Office offers the Customer an @epost.ch e-mail address with which to receive and send e-mails (hereinafter: epost.ch e-mail address). The epost.ch e-mail address cannot be selected as a receiving preference. E-Post Office mail items can be forwarded to third parties via the e-mail address free of charge, and replied to if the original sender has selected the corresponding option in E-Post Office.

3.8 Access rights
The Customer can grant third parties who use E-Post Office as recipients access rights to all or some of his file folders. This allows those who have been granted access rights to view and process (e.g. save and print) all contents stored in shared folders (e.g. files and any available subfolders). If the Customer grants access rights, he remains responsible for the use of E-Post Office by authorized persons in accordance with the applicable agreements and the law.

3.9. Data upload
The Customer can upload his own files from his device to his folders in E-Post Office. Details regarding file sizes, formats, etc. can be found on the www.swisspost.ch/epostoffice website. Access is possible via E-Post Office and IMAP and takes place via an encrypted (SSL) connection. The contents themselves are not encrypted.

3.10 Sync client
To synchronize files with other systems, the Customer is provided with a sync client (hereinafter referred to as “sync client”), which can be automatically updated. Swiss Post does not guarantee successful installation, functioning of the sync client on the Customer’s system or the synchronization of the data to be transferred. In so far as it complies with these GTC, we shall issue a limited non-exclusive, non-transferable, revocable license to use the software exclusively for access to the services. In so far as a software component is offered under an open source license, we shall make the license available to you, and the conditions of the licence may expressly override individual terms of these GTC. To the extent permitted by law, you agree not to attempt to reverse engineer, or decompile the service or use supported decompliers for it.

3.11 Digital signature
On behalf of the sender, mail items for which the recipient has chosen the “electronic” receiving preference (see section 3.3) will be digitally signed with a Swiss Post certificate upon receipt by Swiss Post. The sole purpose of the digital signature is to make it possible to see if the file has been changed after being signed.
3.12 OCR (text recognition)
The Customer can edit files with licensed file formats using OCR (text recognition). The information obtained from OCR will be stored, the original files will be saved in a new file in a different file format.

3.13 Semantic recognition and indexing
Files and mail items are semantically analysed and indexed. The relevant searchable key words obtained in this way are stored in a database. Semantic recognition and index forms the basis of the E-Post Office payment order transfer function and the full text search. Data obtained in this way is used to perform these functions only and is used for no other purpose.

3.14 Special offers
Customers must first register to benefit from special offers. The Customer can register to receive special offers or disable the function under Settings. Swiss Post can transfer the file required for the circulation certificate to the sender customer.

3.15 Additional information
Further information on E-Post Office can be found in the online help on the platform and on the www.swisspost.ch/epostoffice website.

4 Customer obligations
The Customer undertakes not to breach any contractual or legal obligations when using E-Post Office. Acknowledging as well as safeguarding and saving of consignments is the sole responsibility of the Customer. Furthermore, the Customer is reminded of his obligations in accordance with the “Login Customer Center” GTC. In particular (but not exclusively) the following “Login Customer Center” GTC sections also apply to E-Post Office: “Safekeeping of access data” (section 3.1), “Responsibility for the contents” (section 3.2), “Measures to prevent unauthorized interventions” (section 3.3), “Observance of jurisdiction” (section 3.4), “Changing personal login data” (section 3.5) and “Release and indemnification” (section 3.6).

5 Costs for customers
The receipt of mail items via E-Post Office is free of charge for the Customer. Swiss Post may charge fees for services based on E-Post Office and for further additional services. The range of value-added services and the associated fees are published at www.swisspost.ch/epostoffice.

6 Payment
Any charges for value-added services are deducted from the Customer’s credit in “Login Customer Center”. If there is insufficient credit available, the credit card stored in “Login Customer Center” will be charged. The Customer must independently implement any changes to the stored credit card details (e.g. card expiry date, name change, etc.) in his “Login Customer Center” profile.

7 Blocking of access to E-Post Office
Swiss Post is authorized at all times to temporarily or permanently block a Customer’s access to E-Post Office if there is specific evidence that the Customer is breaching applicable law or the obligations under these General Terms and Conditions and the “Login Customer Center” GTC when using his account. The Customer will be informed of the block and any lifting of the block by e-mail.

8 Term, termination
The contract is of indefinite duration. It can be cancelled by the Customer at any time subject to a notice period of 30 days. Swiss Post may also terminate the agreement without stating any reasons subject to a notice period of 30 days. The right to terminate for good cause remains unaffected. The termination of the “Login Customer Center” service (see section 8 “Login Customer Center” GTC) automatically triggers the termination of the E-Post Office service. All data relating to E-Post Office will be irrevocably deleted after termination within 65 days.

9 Consequences of blocking and terminating an account
When an account is blocked or terminated, all consignments are saved before the block becomes available without restriction. Swiss Post decides at its discretion on releasing saved mail items on the Customer’s application. In doing so, Swiss Post is authorized to make the release of the saved data dependent on the payment of late payments, in particular. After lifting a block, the mail items saved before the block become available again without restriction. If the block is followed by a termination, Swiss Post may grant the Customer at his request the opportunity to secure the consignments saved by downloading them to his own systems before the final deactivation.

10 Legal effect of E-Post Office
The Customer accepts that legal effects may be associated with the delivery and receipt of mail items. This applies, in particular, when using electronic delivery channels of the E-Post Office service. The Customer acknowledges that the legal effects are determined in accordance with data protection law and that the applicable law is the law of the country outside the discretion of Swiss Post and the senders and recipients subscribing to E-Post Office. The senders to whom this regulation applies are marked as such in E-Post Office.

12.3 Swiss Post may notify senders of the method of receipt chosen by the Customer (see section 3.3), if this is necessary for delivery via E-Post Office.

In the event of incorrect deliveries, Swiss Post reserves the right to hide from view any consignments which have been delivered but remain unopened in the inbox on the sender’s instructions and after weighing up the interests of the parties concerned. Swiss Post subsequently informs the Customer of this measure.

13 Liability
Swiss Post does not accept, as far as permissible by law, any liability or warranty for the service provided. Furthermore, the “Login Customer Center” GTC shall apply. The Customer shall be liable for loss or damage that Swiss Post or third parties incur from the improper or unlawful, or should performance be impossible, this shall not adversely affect the effectiveness of the other parts of the contract.
